

Press Release

Date: 10/01/2014

Traditions Health Care Acquires Omega Home Health

College Station, TX. – (10/01/2014) – Traditions Health Care a leading home health and hospice provider in Texas announced today that it purchased Omega Home Health. The company is a Medicare certified provider of home health services in Tyler, Texas. The announcement was made today by Traditions Health Care CEO, Bryan Wolfe.

As a leading provider of home health and hospice services, Traditions Health Care offers skilled nursing, therapy services and both physical and spiritual end of life care.

“This acquisition is very special to me. It marks the beginning of a new era for our company. I’m excited for our employees and I welcome the new employees to our team,” said Mr. Wolfe. “At Traditions Health Care, we have focused our efforts on serving patients in rural communities. With the acquisition of Omega Home Health, we will be able to further our commitment to providing all patients in rural Texas quality healthcare regardless of location. “

Traditions Health Care has seven locations serving fifty two counties. For more information regarding Traditions Health Care and Hospice services, please visit our website at www.TraditionsHealth.com.